ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

FADED HOURS.

BY JOHN RANDOLPH SUTERMEISTER.

Oh! for thy bright and faded hours,
When life was like a summer stream,
On whose gay banks the virgin flowers
Blush'd in the morning's rosy beam—
Or danc'd upon the breeze that bare
Its stores of rich perfumes along,
While the wood robin poured on air
The ravishing delights of song!

The sun look'd from his lofty cloud,
While flowed its sparkling waters fair,
And went upon his pathway proud,
And threw a brighter lustre there—
And smiled upon the golden heaven,
And on the earth's sweet loveliness,
Where light and joy and song were given,
The glad and fairy scene to bless!

Ay, these were bright and joyous hours,
When Youth awoke from boyhood's dream
To see life's Eden dress'd in flowers,
While young Hope bask'd in morning's beam—
And proffered thanks to heaven above,
While glowed his fond and grateful breast
That spread of him that scene of love,
And made him so supremely blest!

That scene of love, where hath it gone?
Where hath its charms and beauty sped?
My hours of youth that o'er me shone—
Where have their light and splendor fled?
Into the silent lapse of years!
And I am left on earth to mourn—
And I am left to drop my tears
O'er Mem'ry's lone and icy urn!

Yet why pour forth the voice of wail,
O'er feelings' blighted coronal?
Ere many gorgeous suns shall fall,
I shall be gathered in my pall!
Oh! my dark hours on earth are few—
My hopes are crushed, my heart is riv'n,
And I shall soon bid life adieu,
To see enduring joys in heaven!

LATER FROM FRANCE.

The France, from Havre, brings us Paris papers of the 19th, and Havre, of the 20th ultimo. We do not find in them any thing very material. It would seem, from some statements in the latest Havre papers, that wearied with the protracted negotiations respecting Holland and Belgium, England, and particularly France, had determined upon requiring from King William immediate and unconditional compliance with the treaty of the 24 articles, under penalty of seeing a combined British and French fleet in the Scheldt, and 30,000 French troops, under Marshal Gerard, before Antwerp. If it be so, King William will comply. The rumors of apprehended difficulties had caused a slight decline in the French funds.

La Vendee was still agitated with Carlist factions, and the South was again becoming rather more so. Nothing is known of the Duchess of Berry. All expectations in France were turned towards the approaching session of the Chamber of Deputies, and, until the political complection of that body be ascertained, it is not probable, notwithstanding many rumors to the contrary in the Paris papers, that any change or new combination would occur in the ministry.

From Portugal there is nothing of moment. Don Pedro was secure and tranquil in Oporto, gaining strength—contrary, we confess, to our first impression—by delay. His fleet was off Lisbon defying that of Miguel, which remained impassive within the port.

Charles X. and the Duke of Angouleme were on the point of embarking at Leith for Hamburg. The Duchess of Angouleme was in London, and had received the visit, incognito, of the Queen of England, and of several of the Foreign Ambassadors.

Madame Letitia, the mother of Buonaparte, was at the point of death. Her will occasioned much speculation, as her property is very large. The bulk of it, estimated, after paying all the legacies, at about fifteen millions of dollars, she leaves to the eldest in the male line of the Buonapartes, in perpetual entail. Joseph is the present heir.

The Gazette de France, and some of the other Paris papers, publish the Nullification Manifesto of Messrs. Hayne, McDuffie, and other South Carolina members of Congress, on the breaking up of Congress, and seem puzzled what to make of its threats of disunion.

The Paris Correspondent of the Journal du Havre states, on the 19th September, that the Conference, in London, had almost ceased its deliberations, finding it impossible to produce an arrangement of the questions in dispute. Lord Palmerston, the British Minister, however, still continued his endeavors alone, and had transmitted to the Hague a project for the definitive settlement of the different points unadjusted. This step had not been more successful than those which preceded it, and six days before the French Government had received intelligence from their Minister at the Hague, the Marquis of Dalmatia, that the project of Lord Palmerston had been rejected. A cabinet council was immediately summoned, and, on the 14th, instructions were transmitted to M. Durand de Mareuil, the French Ambassador at London, of which the following is said to be a copy:

'We have learned from our Minister at the Hague, that the proposals made by Lord Palmerston have not even been taken into consideration by the Cabinet of the King of Holland, and, in consequence, we are convinced that the project of Lord Palmerston will neither receive any attention from the Northern Powers, it having been drawn up and sent without their participation. The question of Holland and Belgium, is, however, of too vital importance for Europe, and particularly for his Majesty, Louis Philippe, to allow the Ministers of his Majesty to hesitate longer about bringing it to a close. It is absolutely necessary, that in his Majesty's speech, at the opening of the Chambers, he should be able to say, 'Affairs between Belgium and Holland are adjusted,' or else, 'We are compelled to have recourse to violent measures to bring about a settlement of the differences between Belgium and Holland.' You will communicate to Lord Palmerston the instructions we now send to you, and you may add, that confiding in the friendship of his Britannic Majesty, the French Government considers it indispensable to send a note to the King of Holland, in the names of France and England, announcing to him that a short delay will still be granted him to give a decisive reply to the different proposals which have been made to him, on the subject of his difficulties with Belgium—that his silence will be considered a refusal to accept the said proposals, and that the French Government will then consider itself obliged to have recourse to arms.'

These instructions further direct the French Ambassador at London, to invite the English Cabinet to unite with the French, in adopting coercive measures, if the demand, about to be made of the Dutch Government, should be as unavailing as the preceding. While waiting a reply from M. Durand de Mareuil, the French Ministers had frequently assembled to deliberate on this important subject. On the 17th of September the Council of Ministers met and long discussions ensued without deciding any thing,—at last it was settled, that each one of the Ministers should reflect separately on what coercive measures should be taken; and on the 18th it was determined to resume the old project of assembling a fleet, at Cherbourg, to act in concert with the English fleet. M. de Rigny will command in person the French squadron. Marshal Soult has declared that it would take but 8 days to place Marshal Gerard with 30,000 troops at Antwerp.

The resolutions have been sent to M. Durand de Mareuil, that he may submit them to the consideration of the English Cabinet. Orders have been sent by telegraph to assemble an army on the fron- [illegible]m. It appears that besides the ar[illegible]men which is to enter immediately [illegible]other army will be formed on the [illegible]e a larger force should be necessary.

LATEST FROM MEXICO.

By the schooner Tepeyac, at New Orleans, letters have been received from Vera Cruz to the 4th ultimo.

A movement had taken place in the city of Mexico on the 25th September, in favour of Santa Anna, which was put down after some fighting, in which several persons were killed and wounded. The new Secretary of State had tendered his resignation. The New Orleans papers state that Montezuma had been totally defeated, and would fall back on Tampico. Private letters state that he was again rallying his forces.

Several important cities and towns had delared in favor of Santa Anna, and the return of Pedraza to the Presidency.—Some of the Legislature had declared a suspension of the election for President, until a pacification should take place.—Measures were taking to assemble the Legislature of the State of Vera Cruz, in that city, which would be composed of those members who constituted that body in 1829.

Bustamente is on his march to Zicatecas, a State that is in the hands of the revolutionists. He will, most probably, send more troops down to take Tampico and Pueblo Piejo.

The election for President of the Republic took place last month; but on account of the communication with the capital being stopped, there is nothing definite as to the result yet known. We have heard, however, that Gen. Bravo had received nine votes, (each State having one vote,) and it is probable he is elected.—There were two other candidates, Governor Garcia, of the State of Zacatecas, and General Santa Anna: the latter, we are told, has not received one vote.

Santa Anna is still besieged in Orizaba. He had sent down orders to Vera Cruz to have every man who was capable of bearing arms enlisted in the army. There had been two slight engagements between Facio and Santa Anna, in one of which the latter obtained the advantage; but in the second he was beaten. Facio has resigned the command of the government troops: Col. Andrade has been appointed to succeed him.

The armed brig Santa Anna, which was in the river several weeks, waiting for President Pedraza, to convey him to Vera Cruz, departed precipitately last evening, being towed by the tow-boat Post Boy What can be inferred from this, we hardly know; is Pedraza on the eve of his arrival? or is the sudden departure of that vessel owing to the late news.—New Orleans paper.

SUPPOSED MURDER.

We give the following story as it was related by a gentleman from the country. The appaling discovery, the legal proceedings, and the testimony mentioned in the course of it, we have heard from another source; but feel inclined to believe that their connection with past occurrences, and the occurrences themselves, have received a strong coloring from the imaginations of our informant, and the witnesses who were examined:—

About thirty years ago, a small village was built up in one of the newly settled counties in the interior of this state, by some enterprising individuals, among whom was a Scotch merchant by the name of W——. He was an unmarried man, about thirty years of age, of some education, frank and social in his disposition, but somewhat addicted to the bottle. After trading a few years with considerable success, he became unexpectedly the inheritor of a large estate in Scotland; and the letter which announced his good fortune contained also a large sum of money. He immediately commenced arrangements for returning home; sold out his establishment to a villager whom we shall designate by the name of A———; took a farewell carouse with his old customers and cronies, with whom he was literally "fou, for days thegither," and departed for his native land. A year or more had elapsed when some of the villagers got word—how, it is not recollected—that W. had never been heard of by his friends in Scotland; and a story obtained and was believed, that his good fortune had made him mad, and that he had "drunk himself to death" on his way home.

About the same period, a pedlar (having, as was believed, a considerable sum of money with him) who had put up at the village for a few days, suddenly disappeared in a mysterious manner, and has never since been heard of. The circumstance is recollected from his having made a deposit with a citizen of the town, of a sum of money, which has never been called for, and which, we believe, is still at interest for his benefit.

Mr. A———, and a younger brother, on the departure of W. set up as merchants in his stead; and it was remarkable, that being men of small means and ordinary abilities, illiterate, and unacquainted with merchandise, they nevertheless managed their concerns with unexampled success. They kept a large stock of goods, purchased up the produce of the farmers in the country to a great distance around, were always "flush of money," and, in short, "bought golden opinions of all sorts of people." The elder brother by dint of wise saws and thread-bare adages, uttered with a consequential air, came to be considered a man of parts, was appointed a magistrate, and for a time was the oracle of the village and its vicinity. There was, however, a recklessness in the transactions of these men, which made sober people wonder at their prosperity, and half inclined them to believe it would not last for ever. They gradually contracted dissipated habits, and gathered round them a knot of gamblers and loose characters, until the village, which had never been in the best repute formerly, became, under their auspices, the seat of all manner of iniquity.

A few years wound up their career by a failure in business, followed by a series of judgments and executions which swept lands and chattels, and reduced them to their former humble condition. The younger brother has managed to lead a bustling life ever since, wandering about the country, and gaining a precarious subsistence as a black leg and a horse jockey. The "Squire," it was observed did not bear his misfortunes with the utmost magnanimity. He became a moody and unhappy man—restless, unsocial and absent-minded when sober, and addicted, in his maudlin moments, to moralizing on the vicissitudes of life, and the vices of the times. These habits gradually increased upon him, and at length took an aspect, which, for some years past, has caused his neighbors to look upon him as partially deranged.

He became subject, at intervals of different lengths, to paroxisms of intense mental distress, during which he frequently declared himself the most wretched being in existence, but from a cause which no one could ever know. It is said that, at such seasons he has been known to rise from his bed at night, fling himself upon his knees, and pray for hours in an agony bordering on despair; and perhaps the next day fly to the bottle for relief, and, under its influence, run into the opposite extreme of horrid blasphemy. Two other peculiarities of his character have also been the subject of remark:—the one a passion for tales of murder, the most horrid details of which, he would dwell upon with intense interest:—and the other, an inordinate affection for the small, inconvenient house which he occupied. This house—the oldest, perhaps, in the village—he had built himself, for his own residence.

After the ownership had passed from him, he still contrived to retain possession, and never would consent to the slightest repairs or alterations being made. His notions were looked upon as the whims of a half crazed man, which it cost the good natured owner nothing to gratify, and he was suffered to have his will. When compelled to leave the house at last, he did so with lamentations which distressed the sympathies of the neighborhood: and when told, a few weeks ago, that it was to be torn down, he said it was then time for him to be torn down also, and actually removed to an obscure nook, in one of the western counties, professedly from inability to endure the destruction of his beloved domicil.

About a fortnight ago, the house was torn down, and a discovery made which has produced no little excitement in that region, and, in the imagination of many, affords a clue both to the prosperity of A—— at the period above spoken of, and to his subsequent eccentricities. The house had no cellar; and the floor was laid on large sleepers which rested on the ground. Between two of these a quantity of earth had been filled in, which, in consequence of the settling of the house had caused a rising in the floor directly above it. On removing this a perfect human skeleton was found, lying on one side, with the hip and knee joints slightly bent. A coroner's jury was immediately called, and after examining several witnesses, adjourned, for the purpose of sending for A——, who was hunted out, arrested, and brought to the place just as our informant was about to leave it. He arrived in a state of boisterous hilarity, and seemed disposed to treat the matter as an excellent joke. As to the bones, he said he placed them there himself; and that they were those of an Indian, which had been dug up hard by, at the time he was building the house. A person to whom he appealed recollected some Indian bones having been dug up about that time, but they were only the larger bones of the frame, and even then much decayed; while the skeleton found under the floor was entire—each bone being not only well preserved, but placed in its proper position; a circumstance hardly to be expected from A——'s limited knowledge of anatomy.

But setting this aside, enough had came to light before the jury, to show, beyond a doubt, that a human body must have been deposited there since the building of the house. For instance, the floor was originally fastened down with long wrought nails, and the part directly over the skeleton has evidently been forced up since. The nails, still remaining in the sleepers, the heads were drawn through the boards. These appear to have been bent down and driven into the wood; and the boards when laid down again were fastened with cut nails. Again: a witness remembered a conversation he had formerly had with a clerk in A's store concerning the situation of the house; and to have expressed his surprise that a cellar had not been dug under it. The reason given was, that the earth under the house seemed to be impregnated with something which gave it a strong smell of carrion. A physician of the first respectability, who had attended a sick person in the house about the same time, recollected the offensive scent; and it is now ascertained that the family actually quitted the house for many months on the same account, and resided in a shop in the rear. In short, when our informant left the place, facts were daily coming to light through the excited recollections of the older inhabitants, all contributing to the belief that a foul murder had been committed, and tending to fix the guilt on the elder A., with the privity, if not the participation of his brother. The most probable conjecture in regard to the victim is, that it was either W. or the pedlar above spoken of, both of whose fates are involved in so much uncertainty.

From the National Gazette.

Mr. Editor—During the present discussion on the value of the Bank of the United States, every statement which throws light on the subject, should be submitted to the community for consideration. It is under this belief that I require of you the insertion, in your paper, of this communication. I should be glad to have you make it a theme for occasional effective remarks.

The people should know the vast interests that will be jeoparded by a blind adherence to the present dynasty against all the dictates of prudence. I have always been impressed with the importance of this Institution, but yet had not, until lately, an idea of the vast extended influence it has had in substituting a sound currency.

The bitterest enemy of the Bank must allow that it will always redeem its paper. General Jackson's opinion of its value may be known, when he says, a renewal of its charter, would be giving to its present Stockholders several millions of dollars, to do which it must of course increase its profits so much over the capital, and consequently would be the better able to redeem its debts. So that General Jackson's opinion is, that if renewed, it will not only be able to redeem its paper, but a large surplus of several millions. This being the state of the case, let us see the condition of the State Banks, &c., such as it is intended to substitute for this Institution, which has always paid 100 cents to the dollar, and see what has been the case heretofore; "and I know of no way of judging for the future, than by the past;" and judging by the past, what fearful suffering may we not anticipate from the recurrence of such a state of affairs, as the statement below will make manifest. It was from reading the list (the Weekly Reporter) that I first felt the full importance of continuing the present institution. Read, Yeomanry of the country, read, and judge what is best for your interest.

Ninety-seven banks, with an average capital of $500,000, making a total of Forty-eight Millions, five hundred thousand dollars, of broken bank notes; and, including Kentucky, about fifty millions. This immense sum has been lost by the people, ruining thousands of Farmers, Mechanics, Working Men, and indeed all classes of society; and, to gratify a few hungry speculators, these things must again be endured by the community. To gratify political Vampyres, sucking the substance of the people, this Institution, which has extricated us from these difficulties, and continues to us safety from their depredations, must be put down.

A Central Hickory Club has been formed at Washington, a portion of whose members receive from the government, in official emoluments, upwards of one hundred and twenty-one thousand dollars per annum. This is what the French call Bureaucracy, with a vengeance. The Club might be denominated the association of Whippers-in.—Nat. Gaz.

In page 87 of Babbage's Economy of Machinery and Manufactures, an extraordinary species of manufacture is described as having been contrived by an officer of engineers residing at Munich. It consists of lace and veils, with open patterns made entirely by caterpillars. A paste made of the leaves of a plant upon which the caterpillar feeds, is spread thinly upon a stone, and the pattern drawn upon it in olive oil. The stone is inclined, and the caterpillars placed at the bottom, and they commence eating the paste and spinning a strong web up the plane, carefully avoiding every spot touched with the oil. The result makes a perfect veil of lace, of considerable strength, but of extreme lightness, a square yard weighing only 4½ troy grains, while a square yard of fine cambric muslin weighs a hundred times as much.

It appears from a new French statistical work, that about twenty-nine millions of French subjects speak their native language, but in seventy different dialets; the remainder, (about 2,500,000) speak German, Flemish, Italian, Celtic, or Cantabuo.—Balt. Amer.

Agriculture in Liberia.—A new impulse has been given to agriculture during the year past. Most of the emigrants, recently arrived, have devoted themselves, successfully to the cultivation of their farms. The coffee plant, which is found every where near the coast, "growing in the richest luxuriance," has now become an object of attention with some of our most respectable citizens. The Rev. C. M. Waring expects to have a plantation of 20,000 trees completed in a short time. Cotton and indigo are likewise spontaneous productions of the country, but have not yet been subjected to cultivation. One colonist, however, is named, as having raised, spun, and wove cotton enough to clothe himself and family.—Balt. Amer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.

Episcopal General Convention—the Question decided.—The previous question on the Resolution declaring the Ohio Bishopric to be vacant, was yesterday moved and carried. The vote on the main question was then taken by yeas and nays, in States and Orders; and the result was that the Clerical Delegations of eight States voted in the affirmative, and the Clerical Delegations of nine States in the negative. The votes of the Clerical Delegation of New York were equally divided, 2 to 2, and of course neutralized each other. So the Clergy voted in the negative.

The Laity of seventeen States were present, and voted—of which, eight States voted in the affirmative, and seven in the negative,—the delegations of Connecticut and New Jersey being equally divided. So the Lay Deputies voted in the affirmative.

The Chair then declared that the resolution was lost,—the concurrent vote of the two Orders being necessary to its passage.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 19.

State Bank.—The Bank Bill has at length passed a final reading in both houses, and become a law. The point of location has been fixed at Nashville, instead of Columbia. A branch is also to be established at the latter place.

New Annual.—A new Souvenir, of a religious character, is in preparation, by Key, Meilke & Biddle, of Philadelphia, to be edited by the Rev. G. T. BEDELL. It is the intention to make it equal to the most popular annuals, in the style of printing and embellishments, and to make it worthy the patronage of the more serious part of the community, by making its contents to consist of articles exclusively of a religious and moral stamp. It is to be adorned with nine engravings in steel, by eminent artists.—Poulson.

Steamboat Case.—The New York Journal of Commerce contains the report of a trial which took place last week in the Superior Court, sitting in that city, in which the Fulton steamboat company, owners of the steamboat Washington, were plaintiffs, and the owners of the steamboat Chancellor Livingston were defendants. The case of the plaintiffs was briefly this:

Some time in May, 1831, the steamboat Washington, being on her way to Providence, in her usual course, on a pleasant night, about 10 o'clock, discovered the lights of the steamboat Chancellor Livingston. Both boats were running pretty much in the same line. The Washington, after discovering the Chancellor Livingston, saw that she kept on her course. The pilot of the Washington bore off one point to the right. Seeing the Chancellor still come on, in the same course, the Washington bore off again. When the boats had neared each other very close, the Chancellor still keeping her course unaltered, and making no effort to avoid a collision, the Washington tacked again. The Chancellor came up and run into her larboard side, striking her nearly amidships. By this collision the Washington was immediately sunk, &c. The Jury returned a verdict of thirty thousand dollars for the plaintiffs, being about one half the value of their boat.—Balt. Amer., Oct. 30.

Dr. Spurzheim has an antagonist at Boston on the subject of Phrenology. Dr. G. Bradford has advertised a course of Lectures, to commence on the 29th inst., in which he will advocate a theory directly opposed to that of Dr. Spurzheim.

As a specimen of the difficulty of pronouncing and spelling our language, with the present alphabet, it was proved, by Dr. Weeks, of Utica, at the last meeting of the American Lyceum, that the word 'phantom,' might be pronounced wrong in 3,839, and written wrong in 3,023 different ways.

Discovery in the Pacific.—Capt. Hiram Covel, of the bark Alliance, has just returned to Newport, R. I., from the Pacific Ocean, and states that, on 7th May, 1831, in latitude 4 deg. 30 min. N., longitude 168 deg. 40 min., he discovered a group of fourteen islands, not laid down on any chart. They were all inhabited, and the natives spoke the Spanish language: he called them the Covel Group.

Judge P. P. Barbour has addressed, to the Convention by whom he was nominated as Vice President, a letter in which he expresses the fear that his nomination may endanger the re-election of General Jackson, and the hope that his friends will vote for the Legislative ticket—that is—the caucus Van Buren ticket.

The Marquis of Palmella has left England, and, it is said, well satisfied with the result of his mission. It is, of course, out of the question for our government to interfere in this contest, but it will, doubtless, afford every facility to the operations of Don Pedro. The ex-Emperor is raising troops in London with great success; 600 recruits have already left for Oporto, and many more are about to embark. It was rumored at Oporto that the Admiral of Don Miguel's fleet was about to attack Sartorius, and this report, from the greater force of the usurper, created some alarm. The superior moral courage of the sailors under Sartorius will, however, we trust, fully make up for their deficiency in numbers. Every one is anxious to hear good news of victories gained by Don Pedro, and that he may ultimately succeed in his object, tho' the prospect is at present rather gloomy, is our ardent desire.—London Times.

An Iron Blooded Race.—Doctor John Mason Good, in his Book of Nature, says that the blood of about forty men contains iron enough to make a good ploughshare, and might easily have its iron extracted from it, to be reduced to a metallic state, and manufactured into such an instrument.—Baltimore American.

A sprightly young belle who was an admirer of poetry would often teaze her beau to write verses for her, as he had made some acquaintance with the muses; one day, becoming quite importune, she would take no denial. Come—pray do now write some poetry for me, wont you. I'll help you out, I'll furnish you with rhymes if you will make lines for them. Here now,

teaze bone

He at length good humoredly complied, and filled up the measure as follows:

To form that is faultless, a face that must—please
Is added a restless desire to trouble and—teaze,
Oh! how my hard fate, I should ever be—moan,
Could I but believe, she'd be bone of my—bone.

Progress of the arts.—A few years since chrome yellow was $16 a pound; it is now made with such ease in Baltimore, from a mineral found in great abundance in the vicinity of that city, as to be sold at 20 cents a pound.

All the copperas used in this country was, until recently, imported from England; it is now made in several places from a mineral found in great abundance in many parts of our country; and the importation, it is believed, is wholly stopped.

Fifteen or twenty years since, a pupil of Professor Silliman, when out with him on a geological excursion, in the vicinity of Yale College, found that many of the farmers there had built their common stone walls, for one hundred and fifty years, with some of the most beautiful marble in the world, without a suspicion that it was any thing more than common stone.—Family Lyceum.

The Constitutionnel has the following:—"It is said that preparations are making by the Government for an expedition to insure the permanent possession of Algiers and Bona, and subdue Constantine. A superior officer, sent to Algiers for the purpose of collecting information on that country so little known has lately returned to Paris. It appears, from his account, that the territory of Bona and Constantine is much more fertile than was supposed, and would present to settlers a favorable prospect of success. The same officer states that the population would be happy in being delivered by a French army from the oppressions and exactions to which they are now subject."

Extract of a private letter of the 6th ultimo, from Rome:—The Pope, in compliance with the wish of the Emperor Nicholas, has just signed a Brief, in which he declares to the Clergy and the Catholics of Poland, that all the faithful are bound to obey the Ukases issued by the lawful sovereign, who has recovered Poland. Previous to the departure of the courier with the Brief, several Poles resident at Rome, on being apprized of the steps taken by the Russian Ambassador on this subject, requested an audience of Gregory XVI., when they represented to his holiness all that had been done of late by the Russian government in order to extirpate the Catholic religion from Poland, and substitute for it the Greek ritual; they expatiated upon the persecutions exercised against the Catholic priests, and the removal of thousands of the inhabitants and children to Russia, where they are forced to embrace the Greek religion; they also observed to him that by signing the Brief he would give his sanction to a schism, and persecute a religion of which he ought to be a supporter. The Pope replied that he did not believe what they had stated to him; that on the contrary, he was convinced of the excellent dispositions of the Emperor Nicholas in favor of the Catholic religion, for the propagation of which that sovereign had already made many sacrifices."

The Van Dieman's Land Almanac, for 1832.—This is a singular publication, when we consider that it comes from a portion of the globe which a few years ago we read about as a newly discovered territory, inhabited by the least civilized of mankind, and covered with trackless woods. We have now no less than two hundred and sixty-eight pages of information relative to the estates, occupations, policy, and government of twenty-four thousand white persons, who are colonists there, living in several good-sized towns and villages. Hobart town alone contains seven or eight thousand souls; Launceston, two thousand; yet until 1803, there was not a single European upon the Island.—Foreign paper.

In an English Work, entitled "the Music of Nature," by Wm. Gardner, in speaking of the construction of rooms for musical effect, he says:

"It is a mistaken notion that curvatures, circular walls, or arched roofs, add to its perfection. On the contrary, they injure the general effect, by converging the rays of sound into large portions, and throwing them into particular parts of the room. The best figure for a concert-room is a parallelogram, or long square, in which the sounds are equally diffused. Our cathedrals partake of this form, and are the finest buildings in the country for the display of musical effect."

Unrivalled Speed.—The passengers that left New York this morning, by the Camden and Amboy railroad line, at six o'clock and ten minutes, arrived at eight minutes before three; and the passengers that left Baltimore this morning, at half past six, arrived at three o'clock, making the passage from New York to Baltimore in seventeen hours and two minutes.—*U. # PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 6, 1832

THE BANK OF THE UNITED STATES.—The election, in this State, being now passed by, we trust, the public mind will be prepared to examine the merits of this institution more dispassionately than they have hitherto done. The possession of a sound and uniform currency is a matter of so great moment to this extensive and enterprising country, that scarcely any subject can merit more constant and thorough investigation—We, therefore, propose to place before our readers, from time to time, such information, upon this subject, as may enable them fully to appreciate the services which that invaluable institution has rendered, in expelling the rag money which, but a few years ago, flooded this country, and in various other ways. At present, we will merely call their attention to the list of broken banks—published on our opposite page.

AMERICAN MANUFACTURER.—Little as we admire the general course of the editor of this paper, we cannot refuse to give him credit for the candor and shrewdness of his remarks, in his last paper, in relation to the course of the editors of the Mercury and Democrat. It is undoubtedly true that, the course of the Manufacturer has been unchanged, in relation to the Bank, and it is equally true, that—"a majority of the most conspicuous papers and leaders of the Jackson party had openly expressed their 'approbation" of the Bank; but, as the editor of the Manufacturer sneeringly remarks, the Veto had "a magical effect," and "altered the tone of many public Journals."—As to the appellation, "tremendous institution," as applied to the Bank, it is altogether absurd. The only influence which it ever exercised has been beneficial, and such had been the almost universal conviction in this country, until the Veto produced its "magical effect" upon the servile presses and politicians.—If this institution had been so injurious as the Manufacturer represents it, is it not singular that so few persons had made the discovery?—If this institution were so noxious as the editor of the Manufacturer always represented it to be, and as the hireling presses now represent it to be, is it not remarkable "that a majority of the most conspicuous papers and leaders of the Jackson party should, up to the publication of the Veto, express their approbation of it?

From the American Manufacturer of November 3.

To the great and important principles involved in the present National Election, this press ("The American Manufacturer,") stood honorably and advantageously related. Since the commencement of this publication, we have availed ourselves of every proper occasion, to express our deeply rooted, unchanged, and unchangeable hostility to the present Bank of the U. States. And this hostility, founded on the most rational, just, and patriotic principles, was carefully cherished and fearlessly expressed, long before the party with which we acted had given any evidence of a coincidence of opinion:—But on the contrary, a majority of the most conspicuous Presses and leaders of that party, had openly expressed their approbation of the tremendous institution to which we stood unchangably opposed.

The memorable Veto of President Jackson changed every feature in this momentous question. And this document had also a magical effect on thousands of those who had reprobated the course we previously pursued. It were ungenerous to question the purity of their MOTIVES! Whilst the Veto changed thousands of politicians, and altered the tone of many public journals, it produced no change in us.

From the Galenian, of October 10.

THE WINNEBAGO TREATY.

With us, and we believe with all the inhabitants of the Upper Mississippi country, the extinguishment of the Indian title to all the lands between us and the Lake, has long been a subject of great interest. We hail, then, with exquisite joy, its nearly complete accomplishment. There is yet a little land south of the recent Winnebago purchase, owned by the Pottowattamies.

Until since the termination of the late Indian war, we deemed it in vain to try to induce the Winnebagoes to sell their country; but, being detected in their treachery towards us, and conscious of our feelings towards them, for their long continued deception, they were quite willing to sell their country, and remove beyond the Mississippi.

* * * * *

By the cession, we acquire a free access to all the Lake coast, which, before, could not be approached, without crossing the Winnebago country, which the Indians had time and again forbidden.

The whole country ceded to us by them is perhaps the prettiest country and best adapted to agriculture and water machinery in the world.

The soil is good, the springs and small streams abundant, the praire and timber well dispersed, the best of mill seats are plentifully found in every section of it, and for its facilities for navigation, few countries can excel.—The Wisconsin and Fox rivers run along its north side; Lake Winnebago and the Four Lakes in the interior, and their outlets, the first running into Fox, and the last into Rock river, which runs through a large portion of the ceded territory. There are many other streams of smaller size, whose waters will soon be navigated. Then on the eastern border is the whole western shore of Lake Michigan, which is connected by navigable waters with the Atlantic ocean.

THE SAC AND FOX TREATY.

In this Treaty our Commissioners have blotted out of existence the name of Black Hawk's band, never again to exist only by amalgamating with Ke-o-kuck's band, who are held responsible for their future conduct.

The ceded land which we get from that nation, lies on the west bank of the Mississippi, and embraces all that valuable tract of country known by the name of Dubeque's Mines. The mineral is thought to be abundant and contiguous to the river. The soil of the whole country is good, and well supplied with springs, and mill streams.—It is, on the whole, well adapted to agriculture and manufacturing.

The purchase of this country has been for a long time desired by many, on account of its rich mines. An object so worthy to be accomplished, as that of owning both sides of the Mississippi, a river of so great use to us, and none to them, ought not to be delayed.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

From the Boston Transcript of Monday evening, we copy the following intelligence from London papers to the 18th, and Liverpool to tha 19th Oct., both inclusive, received at that port by the ship Antioch:

PORTUGAL.—The London Sun, of the 18th, says: "Official accounts from Oporto are quite favorable. Oporto is in a perfect state of defence, with three lines of fortifications, and a determined garrison; and the city is so well provisioned, that meat is at little more than 2d per pound, flour cheap and abundant, and fruit to be had at prices which are almost nominal. In addition to this, we are enabled to state, that the last letters of Sir John Campbell to the party of an illustrious Duke, who takes great interest in Don Miguel, are very discouraging to the partisans of the Usurper. In short, nothing but treason or cowardice can prevent the success of Don Pedro, and we trust there is no danger of either."

The same papers say: We have been favored with a perusal of a letter from Oporto, but not of a later date than those last received. It is still interesting, and canfirms in every degree the previous accounts of the present fortified state of Oporto, which is immense, both within and without the town, not only barricades, pallisades, but high stone walls, embrasures, are erected in the various streets, which communicate with the large streets by bridges, in case the enemy should attack with great force at a certain point of the town, so that the soldiers of Pedro can also act in force, by passing over these bridges to the point attacked. Gun boats have also been stationed, with various other implements of destruction. The letter adds, that they do not think that the Miguelites will be so mad as to make a serious attempt to take Oporto.

HOLLAND AND BELGIUM.—The Brussels papers of Saturday, which we received last night, contain no news of importance. The King and the Government, seeing the necessity or policy of keeping up the spirit of the people to the revolutionary pitch, have announced the preparation made, or about to be made, for celebrating, with great pomp, "the glorious days of September" on the 28th inst. It will be remembered that between the 24th and 28th of September, in 1830, the Dutch troops were defeated by the populace of Brussels, and driven with disgrace from every post which they occupied in that capital.

The London Sun of the 18th, says.—By the French mail this morning, accounts from Brussels, state that despatches brought there by M. Goblet, relate to a suspension of arms for six months, under the guarantee of the five Powers.

The King and Queen of the Belgians were expected to visit Paris in the course of three or four weeks, on which occasion a series of fetes are to be given at the Chateau of the Tuileries.

GERMANY.—Frankfort, Sept. 10.—The freedom of Germany has received another blow, administered by the government of Baden, which seems now most disposed of all the petty states to carry into effect the orders of oppression issued by the Diet. Intelligence has reached this city that the University of Freiburg, in Brisgau, on Friday last, closed for an indefinite period. This University was a Catholic one, and the most remarkable for liberality of all in Germany. Its professors, and in particular, Rotteck, Welcker, and Duttlinger, who are, besides, members of the Second Chamber of the Grand Duchy, are known, respected, and beloved for their writings in favor of freedom, all over Germany.—This news, like many others, is most grating to the Germans, who say, "We must bear this, and even more, before the re-action takes place; but wo betide our tyrannic rulers when it does."

Numbers are preparing to quit their country for the American States. In Rhenish Bavaria, associations are forming for the purpose, and a deputation is said to be in readiness to start for the United States, in order to have a communication with that country; and to purchase tracts, which are to be peopled from hence, and to be called "New Germany." Formerly the exiles were persons who went to seek fortune's favors; now, from some districts near the Rhine, 15 persons, who each possess from £3,000 to £4,000, are making all ready. It is even said that wealth will leave that district, in the hands of a few families, to the amount of £100,000; a considerable sum for Germany, which is to be deserted, because the people are treated with injustice.

Letters state a report that the King of Prussia was seriously indisposed.

FRANCE.—Some of the papers state that there is a division in the French Ministry; that M. Dupin wishes to exclude from the Ministry M. Barthe, Montalivent, Sebastiani, and Girod, and that the above ministers have formed an alliance with Guizot, Bertin, and Thiers, whom they wish to bring into the Council. At the same time Soult, Rigny, and Louis have made an arrangement with Dupin.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Bank of England.—By the Report of the Secret Committee, appointed to inquire into the expediency of renewing the charter of the Bank of England, it appears that the Bank possesses £17,433,000 over and above its liabilities. The profits of the Bank for the year ending Feb. 29, 1832, were £1,689,176.

The average loss incurred by the Bank from forgeries in the public funds in the last ten years, was £40,204, and the actual loss in each year as follows: In the year 1822, £12,676; 1823, nothing; 1824, 360,214; 1825, 972; 1826, 10,996; 1827, 1,612; 1828, 1,110; 1829, 700; 1830, 11,869; 1831, 1,891; total, £402,040.

The Committee mention the ample means of the Bank to meet all its engagements, and the high credit it continues to deserve.

Captain Popham Hill, who commands the Marines on board the Donna Maria, raised above 200 men for the service of the young Queen, principally from his own tenantry in the Isle of Wight. Lord John Russell had experienced a severe attack of Cholera at Dartmouth, but was recovering.

DEPARTURE OF THE BOURBONS.—Their Royal Highnesses, the Duchess D'Angouleme, and Mademoiselle De Berri, with their suite, occupying four carriages, left Grillion's Hotel, in Charles street, Grosvenor square, on Saturday morning, to embark on board the Hamburg steam packet. Their suite was not very numerous, consisting, exclusive of the Count, merely of the Duchess de Gontaud, (preceptress or governess, to Mademoiselle,) the Vicomtesse d'Argould, and Madame de St. Preuve, ladies-in-waiting to the Duchess d' Angouleme, sub-governess to Mademoiselle, and five or six female servants.

A London paper asserts as the true reason for the determination of Charles X. to quit England, that his arrangements for liquidating a considerable, debt which he had contracted at the time of the emigration, having been interrupted by the events of July, his creditors entered a prosecution against him in England, and would have obtained a judgment to take his body, in the course of November, instant.

From the Baltimore Patriot.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

The extraordinary session of the legislature of South Carolina, called by Governor Hamilton, for the purpose of perfecting the scheme of Nullification, commenced at Columbia, on Monday, the 22d ult. The aspect which it presents is of so much importance to the whole country, that we shall feel bound to follow and record its proceedings. A new doctrine, startling in its character, and threatening the gravest consequences to the peace and integrity of the whole country, is about to be put into forcible practice by the power of a whole state, exerted by her entire population through the regular forms of her constitution. State interposition, to destroy the action of the federal government in the exercise of a special power, held to be legitimate by a large majority of the States, is about to be converted from speculation into action; from a theory to be discussed, into a crisis of imminent peril and alarm, requiring the instant interposition of the soundest heads and purest hearts in the country for the common safety.

The Hon. Henry Deas was re-elected Speaker of the Senate, and Henry L. Pinckney Speaker of the House of Representatives. Gov. Hamilton's Message was received immediately, and referred to a joint committee of both Houses, consisting of Messrs. Seabrook, Warren, Manning, Butler, Campbell, Reid, and Patterson, from the Senate; and Messrs. Preston, Noble, R. B. Smith, Player, Holmes, Dunkin, Ervin, M'Cord, M'Willie, Cohen, Potts, and Maxwell, from the House of Representatives.

The committee, on the next morning, reported a bill calling a Convention of the people of the State, 'to consider of and determine on the Tariff Question.' The bill proposes that on the second Monday and Tuesday in November, ensuing, each district and parish shall elect a number of delegates, equal to their number of senators and representatives in the legislature, to meet at Columbia, on Monday, the 19th proximo.

By this bill the convention will be selected precisely in the form of the legislature, and consequently, even if the elections are contested, will be but the same body in another form. The Union party having determined to offer no candidates, the Nullifiers will have the whole matter to themselves.

The message of Governor Hamilton contains no new views upon the question. He simply congratulates his party on their triumph throughout the State in the late elections, and announced briefly the grounds of his hostility to the Tariff act of last session. He declares it to be a sacrifice of "all the just claims of the South"—to be "at war with every acknowledged principle of wise and beneficent taxation which has ever existed on the face of the earth, among any nation having the shadow of a claim to civilization, or a just knowledge of finance," and affirms that "if the Southern States had been subjugated provinces, and after a war of exhausting desolation, had surrendered under the sword," the "conquerors" would have desired no other bill than that of 1832. He recommends the call for a convention without any reference to the measures to be projected in that body. Nullification is, however, understood.

Besides the attitude in which these proceedings are to place the state towards the Union, there is another scarcely less appalling danger in her own domestic relations. The Union party, with Col. Drayton at their head, lately resolved that they would be "firm in their allegiance to the United States," and would "resist" nullification by all legal and constitutional means."

The Columbia Telescope, the leading organ of the nullifiers, treats these resolutions in the following threatening terms, under which are plainly signified—pains and penalties—bills of attainder—confiscation of estates—imprisonment—it may be, death on the scaffold.

"To this cautious and determined moderation of a party, that is now the State, we must avow, in the strongest terms, that such cases as that presented by the last proceeding of the Charleston Union party, should form an exception. If it be no more than an expiring effort of rancorous hate, a great final bravado, it is well, and suits the genius of their party. But if they really mean what they say—that the United States (Massachusetts, Rhode Island, or Connecticut, that is to say) not Carolina, is their country; that they owe no affection nor allegiance here, and no obedience to the laws of this land; if they say this, and saying it, ACT upon it and proceed to set at defiance the constituted authorities of this realm of South Carolina, it will be time to teach them that the State, whose lap they have already too long encumbered, can shake them from her robe."

Governor Hamilton's message obliquely hints at the same consequences, when he affirms that—

"When the Convention shall speak, its voice, next to the voice of God, must command our most perfect obedience. We owe no allegiance to any other power, except that which through a similar assemblage, South Carolina has thought fit to contract for us, and which, in paying to the extent, and so long as she thinks proper that the obligation should continue, is but rendering our loyalty to her."—Amer.

Mr. Jefferson vs. Mr. Jackson.—We find, in the Correspondence of Mr. Jefferson, a letter to Gov. M'Kean, of Pennsylvania; it is page No. 450 of the 3d volume, from which we make the following extract:—

'Till this is known, it is too soon for me to say what should be done in such atrocious cases as those you mention of federal officers obstructing the operation of the State Governments. One thing I will say, that as to the future, interferences with elections, whether of the State or General Government, by officers of the latter, should be deemed cause of removal; because the constitutional remedy by the elective principle becomes nothing, it may be smothered by the enormous patronage of the General Government.'

Nullification Convention.—We omitted, yesterday, in the abstract of the provisions of the Convention Bill, introduced into the South Carolina legislature, to notice one of its most remarkable features. It is to continue in office for twelve months, unless sooner dissolved by its own act. It thereby seems to be constituted into a government de facto for the term of one year, armed with full powers to prosecute the controversy with the rest of the Union. If its design be merely 'to declare the mode and measure of redress,' and not to act also executively, we can conceive no reason for making its session so long. If it is also to control the physical force, the motives for defining its term are sufficiently obvious.

☞Since the above was written, we find that the bill has passed both houses of the legislature; in the Senate, by a vote of 31 to 13, and in the House by a vote of 96 to 25.—Balt. Amer., Nov. 1.

Colonization of Free Blacks.—We learn from the African Repository, for October, that the Rev. George W. Light, of Keutucky, has been authorized, by the American Colonization Society, to fit out a ship from New Orleans, should funds and emigrants be found in the Western and Southwestern States, sufficient to justify the measure. The Managers have determined to send a large expedition from Savannah, about the first of November, in which many of the most respectable free people of color, from Charleston, are expected to embark. An expedition will also be sent from Virginia, should the resources of the Board permit.

Georgia.—Complete returns from Georgia show that the contest for the ninth member of Congress has resulted in favor of Gen. John Coffee. The members elected are Messrs. Wayne, Wilde, Foster, Clayton, Gilmer, Gamble, Jones, Schley, and Coffee—of whom the last five are new members. The last two are of the Clark ticket, the others of the Troup ticket. Judge Wayne, who heads the list, was violently opposed because he voted for the tariff bill of last session, and on account of his opposition to Nullification. He received more than eight thousand votes more than the highest of his competitors except Judge Wilde, who was also opposed to Nullification but voted against the bill. He also received nearly 5,000 votes more than Judge Wilde.—Balt. American.

The Radical party of England have lately been taking the reform leaders in the ministry pretty roughly to task, for their course, both with reference to the further progress of the representative reform, and their delays and inconsistencies in reference to financial reform and retrenchment. Lord Althorp, Earl Grey, and especially Chancellor Brougham, are daily assailed on these heads, and appear to be losing the confidence of the radical party. Much resentment is expressed in their papers at the new arrangement of the salary and profits of the Chancellorship, proposed by the ministry. The salary is fixed at £14,000 per annum (nearly seventy thousand dollars) and the pension on retiring from office, at £5,000, or $25,000 per annum, for life. The average profits before were about £14,500, and the retiring pension £4,000; so that the actual emoluments are in fact increased under the great reformer.—Balt. Amer.

African Settlement at Colbornesburgh.—We noticed last week that Mr. Paolo Brown was in Montreal, for the purpose of soliciting pecuniary assistance to build a Church and school houses in the above settlement. The petition to his Excellency the Governor in Chief having appeared in other papers we give only an extract. After observing that many of the Africans of the above settlement were expelled, and prohibited to reside in the places of their birth, for no other reason than that it has pleased the Almighty to bestow on them a different colored skin from their brethren of European descent, the Petition states,

"That they sought refuge, found an asylum, and received instruction in the British Province of Upper Canada, where they have obtained Lands, and where they endeavor to render themselves peaceful, loyal, and useful subjects under a Government that assures to them their civil and religious rights, without distinction of race or color."

Mr. Brown describes the settlement as follows:

"Our settlement at Colbornesburgh is situated only 12 miles from the Guelph Settlement of the Canada Land Company, a place which is rapidly rising to the rank of a city; Colbornesburgh is only 25 miles from the head of Lake Ontario, whence a navigable communication by the great River St. Lawrence, and its tributary canals, extends to the Atlantic Ocean, with innumerable and profitable markets between, for the disposal of the produce of these regions. Industry and enterprise will do wonders; and as there is no check upon them in this country to one set of men more than another, we, of African origin, have the path opened to us as freely as our white neighbors. Colbornesburgh is about 55 miles from York, the capital city and seat of Government of Upper Canada, and 145 miles from the other colored settlement of Wilberforce. Though our two settlements are at present separate, I believe there is a great likelihood, from my lately having met with Mr. Isa Lewis, the agent for Wilberforce settlement, of both being united, which will form a bond of harmony and strength, that cannot fail to be of advantage to both."—Montreal Herald, Oct. 24.

The last No. of the Edinburgh Review, in an elaborate article on 'Americans and their Detractors,' speaking of Mrs. Trollope, says 'she was unfortunate in her researches concerning the distinguished men of America, (for America must be rich indeed,) when she stopped before she reached the name of DANIEL WEBSTER. The following splendid passage is part of a discourse delivered by him some years ago at Plymouth, in commemoration of the first settlement of New England. Our spirit rushed towards him when we first read it. We read it, as we are sure he spoke it, thrilling.'

'The reviewer would hardly credit that the American whose patriotic strains produced so thrilling an effect even across the broad Atlantic, was the same individual spoken of in the official paper of our government, as the maker of 'stump speeches,' as 'like the hunch-back tyrant Richard,' as 'distilling forth his venom from debased lips,' as 'the libeller of our heroes,' as 'the American Tory,' as 'devoted to the principles of monarchs,' as 'a foul calumniator,' &c. He would be loth to believe that Americans (those especially most eminent for wisdom and virtue) have their Detractors at home, as well as abroad.—Nat. Intel.

Having failed in their attempt to cause the Branch at Lexington to suspend specia payments, the Globe and other organs of the Kitchen Cabinet are preparing the west for the withdrawal of the public deposits from the Bank of the United States, and the Legislature of Tennessee has accordingly chartered a Bank to supply the deficiency of circulation which it is foreseen must follow this operation.

The Louisville Advertiser would persuade the people of the west that a transfer of the public deposites from the Bank of the United States to the local banks would keep the specie in the west!!! Mr. Crawford made this experiment!! He transferred the public deposites to the local banks; a few of the knowing ones borrowed it; the banks broke, and Uncle Sam lost hundreds of thousands of dollars; and the honest, confiding, tax-paying people lost millions. Such would be the consequence of the experiments which Amos Kendall & Co. would play upon the people of the west.

Yet the Legislature of Tennessee have put the ball in motion, and all the hired presses are to repeat the notes of preparation. The agents of the Albany Regency will, no doubt, be dispatched with fraudulent certificates of deposites in their banks to a large amount, where not one cent had been deposited, and the stock of the new banks in the west will be taken up by speculators from Albany, who will manage the west for Mr. Van Buren's benefit. To achieve this, we are to have a war of extermination upon the Bank of the United States—the public deposites are to be thrown into the scale of the new litter of State banks, brought forth under the influence of the Kitchen Cabinet, to enable them to make a run upon the United States' Bank; that institution will be compelled to curtail its discounts at a time when the payment of the public stocks, and the regulations of commerce, will create new and urgent pressure on the money market. A sudden fall in the value of property, and a certain sacrifice of the industry and enterprise of the country must follow! But what do Van Buren and the Kitchen Cabinet care for that, if they obtain the public deposites, and high salaries, to enable them to speculate on the "spoils?" We say to the reader, mark well the signs of the times.—Washington Tel.

Mr. Knight, of Rhode Island, a member of the U. S. Senate, in a letter to his constituents, says:

"After Mr. M'Lane had entered into the arrangement, and he saw the use the British Government intended to make of it for the benefit of her navigation, and before he left London, he remonstrated against their proceedings; but it was too late to complain; he had made the bargain, and the United States must stand by it. This remonstrance was made on the thirtieth of November, 1830, and was never communicated to Congress, or made known to the people of the United States, until it was drawn from the secret files of the Government on the 4th day of April last, by a vote of the Senate. During all this time, from the date of the arrangement up to the day this paper saw the light, the papers, officers, and partisans of General Jackson, were shouting praises to this arrangement, and hosannas to the President and his Minister, for making it. And at the same time, the President, by his Minister, was protesting against the use and advantages the British Government were deriving from it."

An Eastern Editor says that his subscribers would make excellent wheel horses—they hold back so well.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. J. SUMNER, having discovered an infallible cure for different species of HERNIA or RUPTURE, by an external application of ointment, without inconvenience to the patient; which ointment, prepared only by himself, he now offers for sale to all who are afflicted with the above complaint, being confident of success from the many proofs he has had of its efficacy—likewise, he considers it a duty to give to the public a fair statement of his own case.

For fifteen years he was sorely afflicted with two Ruptures, the pains of which were so severe, that he was compelled to relinquish all active business, wearing a Truss, and keeping himself a long period mostly confined, and had nearly gave up all hope of ever enjoying a comfortable state of health.—In this dilemma he was forcibly struck with the old adage, that there never was an evil without a remedy, and forthwith commenced a series of experiments upon himself, which through Divine Providence resulted in a complete and radical cure.

JOHN SUMNER,
No. 139 North Third Street, Philadelphia.

This may certify, That my Son, aged thirteen years, was afflicted with a Rupture for three years, and was under the necessity of wearing the Truss constantly, but without any other effect than a temporary relief, and was effectually cured by Dr. J. Sumner in about three weeks time.

Edgeworth Ladies' Boarding School,

BRADDOCKSFIELD, NEAR PITTSBURGH,

Will recommence its engagements on the first Monday of October next.

THE increased and increasing approbation given to this institution cannot fail to produce a corresponding zeal and energy, and a desire to secure a settled good opinion. At this time very many additions have been made, for the convenience, comfort, and well doing of the pupils.—In so large a field as is open for education, understood in its true and extensive sense, there must be room for continual culture. Unabated will be the effort to do the utmost possible to meet so responsible a charge as the care of youth, and to this effort will be added the aid experience brings.—With little observation, in every succeeding month, somewhat is seen to revise and improve.

Edgeworth Seminary has been now of several years standing, and, disclaiming all egotism, it is only the fact to say that experience enables it to offer rather an increase than a diminution of means to give satisfaction.

The health enjoyed by the inmates, and beauty of situation of Braddocksfield Mansion, are well known to visiters, but for information of strangers, it is necessary to state, that in both particulars terms too flattering cannot easily be used.

To instruct, coercive means are not employed—reference is made to the heart as well as the head. Pains are taken to inculcate, that to be great, it is an indispensable to be virtuous; and as the worth of knowledge is only to be estimated by its tendency to right action, the study of every branch, and the proportion of time given to it, will be made subservient and tributary to useful moral and religious improvement.

Sabbath day engagements must not be interrupted unnecessarily. Pupils living at a distance, or from any cause, disposed to make Braddocksfield, during the vacation, their home, are invited to do so, and no additional charge is made.

Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly,

Monongahela Bridge.—It gives us much pleasure to announce that this truly valuable structure has been completely repaired, and was, on the 1st instant, open for the passage of all who might choose to pass and repass. We are assured that Messrs. Coltart & Dilworth, the contractors for rebuilding the piers and reconstruting the arches which had given way, have most faithfully performed that duty, and that the bridge is more substantial than it has been at any time during the last ten years. Much credit is due to those gentlemen, not only for doing the work faithfully, but speedily. The time at which they were bound to finish it was the fifteenth instant.

Sketches of Western Adventure.—We have recently read, with much satisfaction, a work bearing this title, recently published at Maysville, in Kentucky, and now for sale in this city by Messrs. Johnston & Stockton.

The first settlement of our Western Country was made by enterprizing men, many of whom encountered much danger, endured much suffering, and made hair-breadth escapes,—escapes, not merely from captivity or death, but from death preceded by cruel, lingering torments. The work to which we refer contains well but plainly written narratives of these dangers, sufferings, and escapes. It also contains full and interesting accounts of he disastrous expeditions of Col. Crawford and General St. Clair, and of the more successful operations of Wayne.

Our readers will find, on the opposite page of our paper, an extract from this work, containing an account of the capture of James Smith, of his conveyance to Pittsburgh, of his presence here at the time of Braddock's defeat, and of the awful scenes which were exhibited the day after that melancholy affair, within the limits of this city.

This work, also, contains an account of the capture of the two boys of the name of Johnson, the one eight and the other twelve years old, by two Indians, of their cool and intrepid killing of their captors, of their escape, and safe return to their family. This story we have often read before, but the details seemed so extraordinary, that we could scarcely credit them.—Mr. Hammond, (the editor of the Cincinnati Gazette,) however, states that he knew the Johnsons, and seems to attest the truth of the narrative.

The work, though of a plain and unassuming style, is calculated to engross the attention of a reader, and to fix indelibly on the memory a recollection of the trials which occurred at the first settlement oi this section of country.

The Late Election.—We confidently expected that the Anti-Masonic ticket would have received the votes of a majority of the electors of Allegheny county; the result has, therefore, disappointed us. But, although the Jackson electoral ticket received more votes than that opposed to it, yet it is most manifest that there is a majority of the voters of the county who prefer another person to General Jackson. Various circumstances cooperated to prevent a full and fair expression of public opinion. The contest, between the Anti-Masonic and Clay parties, had been carried on very warmly, and to a very late hour in the campaign, and when the Clay ticket was at length withdrawn, sufficient time did not remain to explain the object and the effect of that withdrawal. Many Anti-Masons, who had been Jacksonites were alarmed, and became suspicious that the Anti-Masoni electoral ticket would, if elected, vote for Henry Clay. The Jacksonmen, with that skill and activity which has marked their conduct, cherished this suspicion, and even some of the Clay men, with more zeal than discretion, propagated the same opinion. Several little matters, which it is not necessary to mention, concurred to corroborate the statements and declarations of these Jackson and Clay men, that the electoral ticket would go for Clay. Under these circumstances, many Anti-Masons, who had originally been Jacksonites, and who had not yet overcome the strong prejudices which they had imbibed against Mr. Clay, concluded that, if they must vote for a mason, they would prefer Gen. Jackson, or not vote at all.

The Vice Presidency.—Already has the 'Blairsville Record' given the intimation 'that a confident expectation is entertained that Mr. Wilkins will withdraw his name, and thus give to our electoral college a chance to vote for Martin Van Buren.' This is precisely what we expected, when we challenged Patrick Mulvany to deny that he intended to vote for the great Magician, and it is exactly what he anticipated, when he declared that he 'would not violate his pledge.'

Will Judge Wilkins yield to this intimation? Will he do so, and then accept an appointment from the President? Will he withdraw, for the purpose of securing, by a trick, the triumph of a New Yorker over his two opponents, both Pennsylvanians? His situation is probably not free of difficulty, but he will deliberate fully before he will act. He will bear in mind that Jacksonism is on the wane, and that, before his senaterial term expires, General Jackson will have retired to the Hermitage, and new parties have been formed. He will probably foresee that four years hence it will not be a favorable reminiscence that he had aided to secure the election of a New Yorker—an enemy of the Pennsylvania United States' Bank—over two native Pennsylvanians, friends of that Bank. He will probably recollect that for more than one year past his own friends have declared that Pennsylvania was entitled to the Vice Presidency. Will he contribute to deprive her of her right, and to confer it upon her most bitter enemy?—We will see.

The Great Victory.—The Jacksonites seem greatly delighted with what they please to call their great victory in this state. That portion of the party who considered an election as a battle with an enemy, and the offices as the spoils of victory, have reason to rejoice. So far as Pennsylvania is concerned, the distribution of these offices is again intrusted to the hand that has so long abused that trust. The man, however, who is thus re-elected, unless his feelings and ambition are of the grossest and most depraved character, can derive nothing but unallayed mortification from the Pennsylvania election.

Four years ago he was elected, by a large majority, over a pure, able, and honest statesman, who' even in his retirement has, by the exhibition of his virtues and his talents, cast his successful competitor entirely into the shade. At that time, one hundred and fifty thousand votes were polled, of which General Jackson received one hundred thousand, thus having a majority of fifty thousand votes. Four years have since elapsed—General Jackson has had the uncontrolled distribution of the offices; that power has been lavishly exercised; presses without number are bought up; and yet, at a second election, his majority is reduced twenty or twenty-five thousand. Indeed, so general has been the desertion of his supporters, that not only is his aggregate majority reduced, but his majority, in every county from which we have heard, is decreased.

We notice this matter now, not because the result is mortifying to General Jackson, but because it is cheering to the friends of the constitution, of a sound currency, and of an independant judiciary. Because it proves, fully, the falsity of the declarations of some of the partisans of General Jackson, that he could do nothing to deprive himself of the affections of the people. We mention it, because it contains the salutary intimation to our President, that already have fifteen or twenty thousand of his supporters in this state—and these fifteen or twenty thousand, among the most intelligent, patriotic, and disinterested of his old friends, abandoned his cause. Because it conveys to him, in a language which cannot be misunderstood, a solemn warning that, if his future course is not entirely different from his past, he will become, in the course of the ensuing four years, odious to a large majority of the yeomanry of the state. Because it conveys to our own politicians a timely hint that Jackson's name will not, hereafter, be a defence against every charge of misconduct, and that they must rely upon their own good conduct, and not upon the name of General Jackson, for the approbation of their constituents.

N. B. No cases have originated since the 3d inst., and none have been reported since 9 o'clock, A. M. of the 5th.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

From Poulson's Daily Advertiser.

FIVE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

The ship Silas Richards, Capt. Holdredge, arrived at the port of New York, on Saturday last. She left Liverpool on the 24th Sept. and has brought dates from that place of the 24th, and from London of the 23d.

The following extracts fully confirm the accounts by the way of Havre of the more warlike aspect which affairs between Holland and Belgium had assumed.

DEATH OF WALTER SCOTT.

A letter was sent on board the ship the day she sailed, for the lady of Judge Sewell, of Quebec, with an endorsement on the back of it; that Sir Walter Scott died on the twenty-second of September.

Letters have been received at Paris from Alexandria, dated the 18th of July, which state that a telegraphic despatch had been received at that place, announcing the capture of the Turkish camp at Hama, by the Egyptians.

Leith, Sept. 18.—This morning, at 10 o'clock, the United Kingdom steam boat sailed from Newhaven Roads for Hamburg, having on board his Ex-Majesty Charles X. Duke de Bordeaux, and suite.

DEATH OF FERDINAND OF SPAIN.

London, Saturday evening, September 22.—Intelligence has been received through France to day, of the death of the King of Spain, which there is no reason for doubting, though some persons have declared themselves incredulous on the subject. His health has been declining for some time past, and he has lately had a severe attack of the gout. This news, if confirmed, is expected to hasten the approach of the crisis in Spain.

REJECTION OF THE ULTIMATUM OF THE LONDON CONFERENCE.

London, Saturday evening, September 22.—Very little excitement has been produced in the money market by the confirmation of the rumors respecting the note of the King of Holland, though in fact, to the general apprehension, it makes the alternative of a war all but inevitable. This is owing, probably, to the very contracted state of business, and the almost total extinction of speculative transactions in the funds. Had similar circumstances occurred a year or two back, they could not have failed to produce very material fluctuations. Consols left off at 84 1-8, and Exchequer bills at 16 to 17 premium.

From the Sun, evening of Sept. 22.

The expectations which were entertained by the Conference of a speedy and satisfactory arrangement of the Belgian question are at an end. On Thursday evening, a sealed note from the King of Holland to the Conference, was given to Lord Palmerston by the Dutch Ambassador, Baron Von Zuylen, and last night the members of the Conference having all assembled, the note was opened and read by them.—Instead of finding, as they had expected, an acknowledgment of the readiness of the King of Holland to treat with the King of Belgium, on the recommendations of the Conference, and an appointment of Baron Von Zuylen, with full powers to treat with M. Van de Weyer, the Conference, to their astonishment, and to the real indignation of some, as well as the avowed indignation of all, found a long note without the slightest allusion to the proposal of negotiations between M. Van de Weyer and Baron Von Zuylen, or to the suggestions of the Conference.

The note commences by an expression of surprise on the part of the writer, M. de Verstolk, in the name of the King, his master, at the delay which has attended the Belgian question since the conditions on which the King was willing to treat had been made known to the Conference and to the Belgians, and then proceeds, in language which is intended to be courteous, but which is not to be misunderstood, to complain of the support given by the Conference to revolutionary principles, and to declare that, whatever may be the conduct of the great powers, the King of Holland, relying on the justice of his cause, and on the support of Divine Providence, will know how to maintain his honor, without the necessity of conceding points which are of vital importance to his country.

The note is of great length, but we have given its chief character. It is evidently intended only for farther delay; and unless France and England should act a decisive and manly part, that object will be gained. Let us hope, however, that the two cabinets will see their interest, and unite in a resolution to compel the King of Holland to conclude a treaty with Belgium, on terms which, without being dishonorable to him, shall be fair and liberal towards his former subjects.

The position of Leopold is now one of great difficulty; but, as regards his country and France, it is better than it was a few days ago. By taking upon himself to accept the proposals of the Conference, contrary to the declared wishes of his Chambers, and to dismiss a ministry acting in accordance with those bodies, he has shown his desire for peace, and has now a direct claim for support on the British and French cabinets. The King of Holland has rejected all overtures for peace, except on his own terms; and if Belgium be abandoned by us and France, after the concessions offered by her king, at the risk of his own popularity with his people, the two governments will be guilty not only of great meanness, but of great injustice; and the next thing to be expected will be a dictation to England and France, on matters directly concerning their own honor and safety, by some petty state, acting as the puppet of Russia, Austria, or Prussia.—London Sun.

EXPRESS FROM PARIS.

London, Sept. 22, (Evening.)—An express from Paris has arrived to day, with the letters of Thursday, and every thing indicates that France is perfectly ready to second the decision of the Conference, by a movement against Holland, should that step be deemed advisable. Troops are collected on the frontier next Belgium, and could, it is conceived, be in Brussels in a very short time. The Duke of Orleans has left Paris for Brussels, in order, as it is supposed, to convey to Leopold the opinions of the French Ministry, and to explain the course which is intended to be pursued in the event of the King of Holland proving refractory. The late communication from the Hague, which was laid before the London Conference yesterday, was not known in Paris, but every expectation existed that it would turn out as unsatisfactory as has really proved to be the case. It is perfectly understood, however, that the French troops will not move without the concurrence of the English Ministry. The co-operation of England, by sending a fleet into the Scheldt, is desired by France, but failing inthat, the consent of the Ministry to the march of the French troops into Belgium will be deemed sufficient. The funds fell about one per cent., in Paris, on Thursday, in consequence of the feeling that an interference, in behalf of Belgium, had become all but inevitable.

CHANGE IN THE BELGIAN MINISTRY.

London, Sept. 21.—Despatches have been received by M. Van de Weyer, the Belgian Minister, from General Goblet, announcing the retirement of M. de Meulinare, the Belgian Minister for Foreign Affairs, and the appointment of Gen. Goblet to that post, ad interim. An entire change of the Belgian Ministry is announced, but it is not yet officially stated who are to replace them. M. Van Weyer has received from General Goblet full powers to treat with the Dutch Minister, Baron Von Zuylen, on the dispute between Holland and Belgium; but, up to the present time, Baron Von Zuylen has received no powers from his court to treat with M. Van de Weyer on the subject: and it remains to be seen whether the King of Holland will consent to such a mode of proceeding, taking for the basis of it the recommendations of the Conference.

It is not true, as stated by some of our contemporaries, that Leopold has accepted certain propositions from the Conference; he has neither accepted nor rejected any thing that has been suggested to him from that quarter; and the Conference has merely advised the course which they wish him to follow. The retirement of M. de Meulinaire and the other ministers, however, and the powers given to M. Van de Weyer to negotiate with the Baron Von Zuylen, are, we think, strong indications of a disposition, on the part of Leopold, to adopt most, if not all, the suggestions of the Conference.

London, Sept. 22.—The Russian ambassador, Count Malasacvilch, has arrived in town to day from Doncaster. He is supposed to have been sent for by the Dutch Minister, to strengthen his position with regard to the Conference of the English Ministry. The meeting of the Conference, which was to have taken place to day, has been put off till Monday, and it is believed that Lord Grey has been sent for to assist at its deliberations.

Of the foreign funds the chief fluctuations to day were in Dutch and Belgian, which have both declined. All the European securities are, however, more or less affected by the crisis which is believed to be impending.

Arrival of the Duchess de Berri in Holland.—The Gazette de Normandie says—"Whilst at Nantz they are breaking through the doors of convents to look for the Duchess de Berri, she has been received with regard and respect in Holland, where she has just arrived, and where she will shortly embrace her family and her children.

DON PEDRO'S EXPEDITION.

There are no later accounts from Portugal. Reinforcements, to aid the cause of Don Pedro, were continually departing.

London, Sept. 23.—The Lord Wellington East Indiaman, a large ship of upwards of 1,400 tons burthen, has been lately purchased by the agents of Don Pedro, after having made several voyages to the East Indies, and is now being enlarged, altered, and repaired, at the ship building yard of Messrs. Cox & Lunehouse. This fine vessel will be pierced for sixty guns, and will, in fact, be transformed into a line-of-battle ship sufficient to cope with the largest man-of-war in Don Miguel's service, and will prove, when completed, a powerful reinforcement to the fleet of Admiral Sartorious.

The Echo, steam boat, Lieutenant Otway, sailed from Falmouth on Tuesday, 18th, for Oporto, with the Marquis Palmella, Senhor Barboza, his Secretary, and suite; Senhors Casta, Vascoonellos, Rorke, and Gomez, on a special mission in the cause of Donna Maria. The Marquis reached Falmouth on Saturday morning. The steam boat had been detained some days, waiting for the arrival of a messenger with despatches, who arrived on Tuesday, and the steam boat sailed immediately.—Plymouth Journal.

Major Lawson, who came home from Oporto on leave, in consequence of differences, as we are informed, with Col. Hodges, is about to return from Portugal, accompanied by a general officer of considerable experience, under whose command Count Villa Flor served during the war. Several hundred effective men, who have enrolled themselves under Don Pedro, will go out with these gallant officers.

From the London Times.

More than 100,000 quarters of wheat, and 58,000 cwt. of flour, have recently, it appears, been entered for home consumption. At the present high rate of duty, they will produce nearly £150,000 to the revenue, and will prove a very unexpected aid to Ministers, who, in consequence of the abundant harvest, had not calculated on any accession through the duties on grain and flour. The holders of corn, thus brought forward for home consumption, will, of course, suffer a heavy loss; but they have no doubt found, in the present low price of grain, all over Europe, that this was the only mode left to obtain a market for it.

A SIGN.

Vice President.—It is now evident that President Jackson will be triumphantly re-elected, and it is hoped that no mistaken feelings of State pride, in Pennsylvania, will interfere to prevent the same glorious triumph for the Democratic candidate for Vice President. Mr. Van Buren is clearly that candidate. Mr. P. P. Barbour, with a patriotism that does him high honor, has withdrawn his name, and the confident expectation is entertained, that Mr. Wilkins will adopt the same elevated course, and thus give to our electoral college, the chance of casting their votes for Mr. Van Buren. Our democratic friends in this quarter are, we believe, unanimous in their wish that this change should take place. The prevailing feeling amongst them is, an earnest wish that the Jackson democratic party may now be 'one and indivisible.'—Blairsville Record.

From the Harrisburgh Reporter, of Friday, (the Organ of the State Administration.)

The Vice Presidency.—We have understood, from good authority, that efforts are now secretly making by the friend of Mr. Van Buren to secure for him the electoral vote of Pennsylvania. Whether Mr. Wilkins will decline in favor of Mr. Van Buren, or whether any of the Electors upon our ticket will forfeit their solemn pledges, we cannot take upon ourselves to say; but this much we believe, that in no event will several of the gentlemen on the Jackson and Wilkins Electoral ticket vote for Mr. Van Buren. We speak advisedly on this subject; and would therefore respectfully caution our democratic friends throughout the State to beware of enterng into any measure which may throw discord and division into our ranks.

The New York Mercantile, of Nov. 2nd, says—"Yesterday, agreeably to previous arrangements, the consecration of four Bishops took place in St. Paul's Church. There were present nine Bishops, who united in the imposition of hands. Their appearance, together with the solemnity of the duties which they performed, gave interest to the scene, which was witnessed by a crowded congregation. After the exercises were concluded, the house of Bishops and of clerical and lay deputies, met together, and were dismissed by the venerable presiding Bishop, the Rt. Rev. Wm. White."

The Bishops consecrated were,

A Skeleton made from a Willow Tree.—Some years ago a skeleton was made by one of the first artists in London, according to an order received from a Hindoo Nabob, desirous of understanding the structure of the human body, but whose religion prohibited him from touching any thing possessed of life. It was made of willow and pear tree, copied, with scrupulous precision, from a real skeleton. So exact was the resemblance, that even an anatomist could not distinguish it from a real skeleton by the eye alone. On handling it, the lightness proved it was not bone. The artist received 300 guineas for this piece of mechanism.—The Doctor.

Late Improved Truss.

THOSE laboring under the distressing and dangerous disease Hernia, (Rupture,) are respectfully informed that the above improved Gum Elastic Pad Truss, for which there has been letters patent granted by the President of the U. States, exceeds every instrument of the kind heretofore offered to the public. The high commendations already bestowed, and universal satisfaction given to those afflicted, affords the fullest proof to those wishing effectual and certain remedy for the same, adapted to the different species of this disease, to which male, female, and children are subject.

As regards the true surgical principles of a proper constructed Truss for the radical cure of Hernia, together with cleanliness (as it can be re-covered by the patient himself with a piece of silk or linen) and durability with elegance of execution, he feels satisfied of rendering general benefit to the afflicted, as the correctness upon which it is constructed being abundantly tested by experience, having also submitted the above instrument to the inspection of several medical gentlemen of great experience and character, all of whom concur in forming an exceedingly favorable opinion of the simplicity of construction and limited motion, graduated to the different attitudes and permanency of location on the body, as the central elastic projection on the concave disk of the pad, as well as its vertical spiral spring appearing to them an improvement that will be found valuable in the management of Hernia, and cannot fail to meet with the approbation of the profession.

Among those, he takes pleasure in referring to

Edgeworth Ladies' Boarding School,

BRADDOCKSFIED, NEAR PITTSBURGH,

Will recommence its engagements on the first Monday of October next.

THE increased and increasing approbation given to this institution cannot fail to produce a corresponding zeal and energy, and a desire to secure a settled good opinion. At this time very many additions have been made, for the convenience, comfort, and well doing of the pupils.—In so large a field as is open for education, understood in its true and extensive sense, there must be room for continual culture. Unabated will be the effort to do the utmost possible to meet so responsible a charge as the care of youth, and to this effort will be added the aid experience brings.—With little observation, in every succeeding month, somewhat is seen to revise and improve.

Edgeworth Seminary has been now of several years standing, and, disclaiming all egotism, it is only the fact to say that experience enables it to offer rather an increase than a diminution of means to give satisfaction.

The health enjoyed by the inmates, and beauty of situation of Braddocksfield Mansion, are well known to visiters, but for information of strangers, it is necessary to state, that in both particulars terms too flattering cannot easily be used.

To instruct, coercive means are not employed—reference is made to the heart as well as the head. Pains are taken to inculcate, that to be great, it is an indispensable to be virtuous; and as the worth of knowledge is only to be estimated by its tendency to right action, the study of every branch, and the proportion of time given to it, will be made subservient and tributary to useful moral and religious improvement.

Sabbath day engagements must not be interrupted unnecessarily. Pupils living at a distance, or from any cause, disposed to make Braddocksfield, during the vacation, their home, are invited to do so, and no additional charge is made.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. J. SUMNER, having discovered an infallible cure for different species of HERNIA or RUPTURE, by an external application of ointment, without inconvenience to the patient; which ointment, prepared only by himself, he now offers for sale to all who are afflicted with the above complaint, being confident of success from the many proofs he has had of its efficacy—likewise, he considers it a duty to give to the public a fair statement of his own case.

For fifteen years he was sorely afflicted with two Ruptures, the pains of which were so severe, that he was compelled to relinquish all active business, wearing a Truss, and keeping himself a long period mostly confined, and had nearly gave up all hope of ever enjoying a comfortable state of health.—In this dilemma he was forcibly struck with the old adage, that there never was an evil without a remedy, and forthwith commenced a series of experiments upon himself, which through Divine Providence resulted in a complete and radical cure. JOHN SUMNER,
No. 139 North Third Street, Philadelphia.

This may certify, That my Son, aged thirteen years, was afflicted with a Rupture for three years, and was under the necessity of wearing the Truss constantly, but without any other effect than a temporary relief, and was effectually cured by Dr. J. Sumner in about three weeks time.
JOHN C. DOUGLAS,
No. 131 South Eleventh street, Philadelphia

This may Certify, That I have been afflicted with a Rupture for between four and five years, and have been effectually cured by Doctor J. Sumner, in about five weeks time.
JOHN VASEY,
Corner of York Road and Coates street, Philada.

I Certify, That I was afflicted with a Rupture for four years, and was effectually cured by the application of Dr. Sumner's OINTMENT, in the term of four weeks. E. WILSON.

I Certify, That my Son David, was effectually cured of a Rupture in three weeks time, of twelve years standing, by making use of Dr. Sumner's OINTMENT. D. COX.

The above Certificates are deemed sufficient, and many others might be obtained, and many references can be given.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S

☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.
